ABSTRACT

A method is provided for creating a tree having a plurality of nodes and a plurality of objects associated therewith, each object having a plurality of attributes. The method includes the steps of (1) selecting, by a user, the attributes in accordance with the user's preference, and (2) creating the tree in accordance with the selected attributes.